Daily Commercial Journal.

☞ One of the most extraordinary psychological phenomena we have ever met with is related by an Ohio correspondent of the New York Observer—a religious paper. The writer is said to be a reputable clergyman, and the subject of his communication is a lady belonging to his congregation. There is little doubt that she labors under a species of that rare disorder, catilepsy. Subjoined is the account:

Not very remote from Cadiz, Ohio, there lives a Mrs. B——, a member of the Presbyterian Church in good standing. The lady for years past has involuntarily and unconsciously delivered a religious discourse from one to three hours in duration regularly on every other Sabbath at about the usual hour of the morning service.

She generally appears somewhat unwell and oppressed on the morning preceding these exercises—near the time of commencing her discourse she appears swooning away, from which she appears to recover in some degree, still frothing at the mouth, pale and deeply exercised, she retires upon her couch, and regularly addresses an audience of from two to five hundred persons. After she closes she appears to faint away with exhaustion—but is soon restored to her ordinary health and spirits. Then she is totally unconscious of what she has done or said, and can only remember what has occured up to the time that she seemed to pass under the control of this strange affection.

Her discourse is a pious, fervent strain of exhortation, often methodical and varied, and not remarkable for repetition. She is a decided Calvinist and is sometimes severe in her animadversion of the sins of the day.

Many people in the neighborhood think she is inspired. Intelligent persons regard her affections as a very remarkable species of catalepsy. There are some things about it that are very difficult to explain. In some respects the case appears analagous to that of the German servant girl, who, under the delirium of a fever, repeated correctly pages of Greek and Hebrew, of which language she was totally ignorant. It may be that the religious reading of this lady, and her devout meditations, to which she is inclined in her ordinary health, furnish her with the materials for her Sabbath discourses; and that these things are brought up while laboring under her cataleptic affection on the same principle which the Hebrew and Greek, which the servant girl had heard read, came vividly to mind and had utterance at her lips. But why these affections wholly involuntary should be on the Sabbath and not on a week day—why they should be every other Sabbath and not every Sabbath or every third Sabbath—and why they should be about eleven o'clock in the morning and not at six or nine or some other hour of the twenty-four? I shall leave it to your wiser correspondents to answer

The Miser at Christmas.

In the extract which we give below, from a late work of Charles Dickens, our readers will find several happy thoughts, which are at this season the time honored and sacred festival of Christmas, peculiarly appropriate.

"It was Christmas Eve. Old Scrooge sat busy in his counting house. It was cold, bleak, biting weather; foggy withal, and he could hear the people in the court outside go wheezing up and down beating their hands upon their breasts, and stamping their feet upon the pavement stones to warm them. The city clock had only just gone three, but it was quite dark already; and the candles were flaring in the windows of the neighboring offices like ruddy smears upon the palpable brown air. The fog came pouring in at every chink and keyhole, and was so dense without, that, although the court was of the narrowest, the houses opposite were mere phantoms. To see the dingy cloud come drooping down, obscuring every thing, we might have thought that nature lived hard by and was brewing on a large scale.

"The door of Scrooge's counting house was open that he might keep his eye upon his clerk, who, in a dismal little cell beyond, a sort of tank, was copying letters. Scrooge had a very small fire, but the clerks' fire was so very much smaller that it looked like one coal.

But he could not replenish it, for Scrooge kept the coal-box in his own room, and so surely as the clerk came in with the shovel the master predicted that it would be necessary to part. Wherefore the clerk put on his white comforter, and tried to warm aimself at the candle; in which effort, not being a man of very strong imagination, he failed.

"A merry Christmas, uncle! God save you!' cried a cheerful voice. It was Scrooge's nephew, who came upon him so quickly that it was the first intimation he had of his approach.

"Bah!" said Scrooge. "Humbug."

"Christmas a humbug, uncle!" said the nephew. "You don't mean that I am sure,"

"I do," said Scrooge. "Merry Christmas! What right have you to be merry? What reason have you to be merry? You're poor enough."

"'Come, then,' said the nephew gaily, 'what right have you to be dismal? What reason have you to be morose? You're rich enough."

"Scrooge, having no better answer, on the spur of the moment, said 'Bah!' again; and followed it with 'Humbug.'

"'Don't be cross, uncle,' said the nephew.

"'What else can I be,' returned the uncle, 'when I live in such a world as this? Merry Christmas! What is Christmas time to you but a time for paying bills without money—a time for finding your self a year older and not an hour richer—a time for balancing your books and having every item in 'em through a round dozen of months, presented dead against you? If I could work my will,' said Scrooge indignantly, 'every idiot who goes about with merry Christmas on his lips should be boiled with his own pudding, and buried with a stake of holly through his heart.'

"'Uncle!' pleaded the nephew.

"'Nephew!' returned the uncle sternly, 'keep Christmas in your own way, and let me keep it in mine'

"'Keep it!' repeated the nephew, 'but you don't keep it.'

"'Let me leave it alone, then,' said Scrooge.—'Much good may it do you! Much good it has ever done you!'

"'There are many things from which I might have derived good by which I have not profited, I dare say,' returned the nephew—'Christmas among the rest. But I am sure I have always thought of Christmas time, when it has come round, apart from the veneration due its sacred name and origin, if any thing belonging to it can be apart from that, as a good time—a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time—the only time I know of in the long calendar of the year when men and women seem, by one consent, to open their shut-up hearts freely, and to think of people below them as if they really were fellow-passengers to the grave, and not another race of creatures bound on other journeys.' And, therefore, uncle, though it has never put a scrap of gold or silver in my pocket, I believe it has done me good and will do me good; and I say God bless it! for it is good to be children sometimes, and never better than at Christmas, when its mighty founder was a child."

Arrested for Murder.

Patrick Campall and John Hart were arrested in Nnw York on Thursday, charged with the murder of Matthew Cogan. Campbell and Hart are hod carriers, and were working at a new building in Fourth street near the sixth Avenue, about 8 o'clock in the morning, when a dirt cartman, by the name of Matthew Cogan, drove, or backed his part to load up with sand, which in commoded Campall and Hart in some way from their work.—This caused n quarrel, when Campall struck Cogan with a hod and killed him.

Letter from Oregon.

The annexed letter was sent to the St. Louis Republican for publication. It is written by a man who has resided fourteen years in the country of which he speaks, six years of which have been upon the place from which the letter is dated:

OREGON, CHAHALUM, June 17, 1845.

I received yours of the 14th April, 1844. As for the Hudson Bay Company, the Americans are now too strong for them to care the least what they may do. Heretofore they have been very arbitrary with American citizens, but at present they endeavor to buy all who have any influence in the country. They take precisely the same course which the English took with our forefathers in the United States, and this we must expect until the government of the United States sends her troops here, and takes possession of of this country. There are a great many Tories here, and their fathers before them were tories in the States. As for sending a petition to the government of the United States, this is of no account at all, they have had petition upon petition, and what have they all amounted to? Why, to the waste of the paper that set forth our grievances. No farther consideration has been given them.

The Hudson Bay Company have all the important points in the country—mills, cities and town sites, and have them occupied by their servants; and of this the government of the United States have been informed; yet the Hudson Bay Company, as far as the citizens of the United States can learn, will obtain them, under the grant of the bill which is now before Congress. Therefore if there be no restrictions or provisos in the bill in regard to the Hudson Bay Company, or to foreigners, this country is d—d forever.—But I am in hopes that the government will either make a proviso in regard to the Hudson Bay Company, and their citizens, or that the bill for a donation to the inhabitants of Oregon will not pass or become a law. What citizen of the United States, who has lived here for years, and has seen the oppression of this company, would not rather see it sunk at once, or blotted out of the map of the world, rather than see all that is good and beautiful fall into the hands of those whom we know to be enemies of our government? They are not satisfied with having robbed this country of millions of its richest furs, but they must now rob it of its timber, and all the most important points. These they have in their possession, and as I have said before, if Congress does not do something for this country it is lost—lost—and that forever This country cannot be surpassed in the world for wheat or oats. Corn does not do well here, but all other grain thrive more than middling. I would advise you to bring no tools, unless it be some light tools, not easily obtained here. Sell all off, and buy young cattle—that is young heifers from two to three years old, as they stand it to travel better than any other sort. If you have anything of a company, say from fifty to hundred families, start with a good lot of provisions, and only a few cooking utensils, as you will be obliged to throw them away on the road. Bacon, flour, coffee, sugar and tea, are the main things on the road Start with a good supply and be careful of it. You will make a good deal of meat when you get to the Buffaloes, but then a little flour and bacon are good with coffee or tea. I expect to see some of our friends out this fall, but if not, I shall be obliged to content myself with the hope that some of you will come the next year. I have not given up the hope of again seeing my native country. If I can sell here, I shall return to the United States—not, however, to stay, but to make a visit, buy some stock and return again. Cattle are high here—they are worth from twenty five to forty dollars per head.—The winters are mild—no snow—grass green all the year. We do not feed our stock, they are fat the year round. This is the country that is not far from ruin on account of the Hudson Bay Company.

European Idea of our State.

The Brussels correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says, that Pennsylvania, "in the eyes of a regular Cockney, is all America, at least all the United States; New York being only known to the great body of the London people as a seaport on the Atlantic, between which and the cities of Liverpool and London there exist several lines of packets. When Pennsylvania stopped payments, all America was considered bankrupt; now that she pays, all other States are again taken into favor, at least so far as to believe in their honest intentions, and the opinion is fast gaining ground that in the end, all the States, the repudiating ones included, will fulfil their obligations. Let there be one or two more such crushes as we have lately witnessed in the stock and share Exchanges of London and Paris, and holders will be glad enough to sell out and invest the amount in American securities. Perhaps when the public mind in Europe shall have cooled down in regard to railroad schemes at home, people will be willing to invest their money in the great Pacific railroad scheme of Mr. Whitney, which, when it shall be fairly on the way, cannot but become the great railroad speculation of the present age and the age to come.

Fire.

A fire was discovered in New York, on Wednesday evening, aboutseven o'clock, in the coffee burning establishment of H. Green, No. 19 Hicks street, the circumstances of which created considerable sensation in the neighborhood, and a strong suspicion of its having been the work of an incendiary, it was put out before any other damage was done than simply the burning out of a few shelves.

The people of Alabama have decided in favor of biennial sessions of the Legislaiure of that State, by a majority of 50,652,—only 5,167 votes having been cast in favor of annual seasons. They also voted to remove the seat of Government from Tuscaloosa. Before these changes can be made, however, they must be ratified by a two thirds vote of the present Legislature.

THE GIRARD LIFE INSURANCE, ANNUITY AND TRUST COMPANY of Philadelphia. Chartered in 1836—Charter Perpetual—Capital, $300,000.—Samuel W. Richards, President.—Continues to make insurance on lives, grant annuities and endowments, and accept trusts from individuals, corporate bodies, and courts of justice, and execute them agreeably to the desire of the parties, and receive deposites of money in trust or on interest.

The Company add a bonus at stated periods to the insurance for life, and on the 20th of January last, an addition was made to all policies for life, remaining in force and issued prior to January 1st, 1842, amounting to 10 per cent on the sum insured on policies issued in 1837, 7½ per cent on policies issued in 1838, and in rateable proportions according to their respective dates.

The chief object of an insurance for life is to provide a sum of money at the death of the party insured, for the benefit of a widow, children, friends or creditors; and it will be seen on an examination of the table of rates of the life insurance, which will be furnished by the subscriber to all who may feel an interest in the subject, that by paying a small sum to the office every year during his life, a person may secure to his family a very considerable amount at his decease.

Wherever the system of Life Insurance is properly understood, it is extensively adopted, and its great advantages to all, but more especially to those who depend on their own exertions for the support of their families, or who may be desirous to secure the payment of a sum of money to their friends, creditors or children, at his decease, which they might be otherwise unable to accomplish, that the operation of the system needs but to be explained to ensure the serious consideration of the public.

In several instances it has happened that the party insured has died shortly after having paid only one or two instalments of the premium, when the family have received from this office the full amount for which he had insured.

Full information on this important subject may be obtained by applying, personally, or by letter (post-paid) at the office of the subscriber, the authorised agent of the Girard Life Insurance Company.

FIRE PROOF ROOFING.—The subscriber is now prepared to execute orders for Beacon's Patent Composition Fire Proof Roofing, at a cost considerably less than the ordinary Shingle Roofing, and warrant it for fifteen years, a specimen of which can be seen at the corner of Front, at Mr. Varner's Hotel. This composition is far preferable to metalic roofing, as it is a non-conductor of heat—nothing in its composition that will corrode—of great durability—it will last as long as the walls of the building—and can be afforded for one half of the cost for any metalic used for the above purpose.

The article is superceding almost entirely every other method of roofing in some of the Eastern cities, and only wants to be known for its general adoption.

I. E. BACKUS.

NEWARK, N. J., May 16, 1845.

Some three or four years since we had the Zinc roofing taken off our building, and Mr. Bacon covered them with his Composition Roofing, which answered an excellent purpose for over two years, and until the buildings were destroyed by fire; at which time it was observed that they stood the fire extremely well, did not conduct it, and in fact did not consume as fast as the boards or planks upon which the Composition was laid.

Our building have been rebuilt within the last year, and they are entirely covered with the said Composition, although of great width and length, and forming together an area of rising 12,000 square feet, showing sufficiently, we think, the estimation we have of such roofing and our confidence therein. HEDENBURG & SON,
"Hedenburn's Works."

Office of the Mechanic's F. I. Co.,
NEWARK, N. J., May 17, 1845.

Since the fire in the Messrs. Hedenburg & Son's buildings, an alarming fire broke out of a large building adjacent to Mr. J. M. Quinby's factory buildings, under insurance by this Company, which were much exposed; one of them with the composition Roof, was in danger of being consumed in a few minutes, and the roof escaped injury, while many of its windows and some of its doors were destroyed.

From my observation and the opinion expressed either by persons who have taken pains to inform themselves with respect to Mr. Simeon Bacon, Jr.'s composition, I am convinced that it is equal, if not superior to zinc for roofing.

W. A. MYER, President.

To all whom it may concern, this is so certify that I have had one of Mr. Bacon's composition Roofs in use for two or three years past, and am well pleased with it. Uried it in the first place on one of my workshops, and after giving it a fair trial, I had the zinc roofs taken off of the rest of my factory, and this composition put on, and find it to answer much better, and I cordially recommend it to public favor. J. M. QUINBY.

NEWARK, May 12, 1845.

This is to certify that I have had one of Mr. Bacon's Composition Roofs on my shop for the last year, and, as far as my experience goes, would recommend it to general use. M. GOULD.

NEWARK, May 16, 1845.

Being well assured, upon particular enquiry, that Bacon's Composition Roofing is in all respects preferable to tin, we have adopted this method of covering our manufactories, Hope Buildings, No. 2, which are 125 by 30 feet.

Whig and Antimasonic Nomination
FOR MAYOR.
WILLIAM J. HOWARD.

Whig and Antimasonic Nomination
FOR MAYOR, ALLEGHENY CITY,
ROBERT S. CASSAT.

T. J. Bigham, Esq.

Lest the constituents of this gentleman should think him remiss in his duties as a representative in the State Legislature, we think it but justice to state that, he has, since he left this city, for Memphis, devoted himself wholly to business connected with the interests of the people of Western Pennsylvania, and Allegheny in particular..

He visited New Orleans that he might better observe the extent and tendencies of Western trade and travel, at which place he spent ten days. He was prevented from returning home, by ice and low water. We learn by a private letter from him, that he cannot visit Pittsburgh before the commencement of the session at Harrisburgh.

The people of Allegheny are certainly much indebted to Mr. Bigham, as he has spent his time and money, to the total neglect of his own business, in preparing himself with facts that will be important and valuable to his constituents.

A Horrible Case.

A case of mutiny has lately been examined in London, which occurred on board the Tony on her voyage from India. In the defence it was stated that the captain was constantly intoxicated, habitually cut at the men with a cutlass, and subjected them to numerous savage cruelties, and, if the statement of one of the witnesses were true, it would fix a charge of murder, as well as almost insane cruelty on the captain. He said: "The captain, about eight o'clock at night, asked me if I was afraid of the mate, and I said no; some of the other apprentices said they did fear their lives, but I told the captain to give the mate another trial.—The captain then pardoned him, and giving him a loaded pistol, told him to follow him upon deck. The captain then asked the crew if they knew of an intention to take his life, which they denied.—Reason, (who has since died,) Cone, and Lee were then in irons. The captain threatened, if they did not tell what they knew, to take their lives. I think Curtis and Burton said that Mars hauled them out of their berths to secure the captain. On that the captain had Mars put in irons, and went down every half hour, and cut off an inch of him."

This statement caused great emotion. The magistrate interrupted Yelverton, and asked: "Do you mean what you say?" "Do you mind what you say?"

Yelverton: "Yes, he said that was what he would do to him."

Mr. Broderid: "But you say he did it; that he cut an inch off of him every half hour."

Yelverton: "I can't be exact as to an inch but he said he would cut him so."

Mr. Broderid: "But you did not see him?"

Yelverton: "Yes I saw one piece cut off about the size of my hand. It was cut off the man's head, and all the hair was on it."

This reply, which was made with apparent sincerity and simplicity, made the whole court shudder.

Yelverton then continued: "The captain then took Mars to the inner cabin, which was his bedroom, taking with him a strand and a beaver. I don't know what was done there, but we heard Mars cry out as if he was choaking. He brought him back again in the presence of Julian and the other boys, and set him against the cabin door, whilst he himself set on the lockerhead, and kept pitching the cutlass at him, sometimes sticking it in his head, and sometimes in his breast. The mate jumped overboard during the voyage, and some of the men were much injured."

Children Burnt to Death.

We yesterday stated that three children of the ages of three, five and seven years, of Mrs. Nancy Roberts, had been burnt to death in her house, at Rochester, N. Y. The Rochester Advertiser gives the following particulars of the sad event: She resided in the same house with Mrs. Knox, and she with her four children, one an infant, and Mrs. Knox's children, lodged in the chamber of the house.

Mrs. R., being awakened by the crying of her infant, discovered smoke in the room, and immediately ran down stairs to discover the cause, and found that the house was on fire; she returned and snatched her infant, and threw it out of the window. She again returned, but having left the door open, the upper part where the children were asleep was by this time densely filled with smoke. After groping about for some time, she finally came in contact with a girl of Mrs. Knox, which she supposed to be her eldest boy, and threw her out of the window also. While roving about the room in search of the rest of her children, for some time she lost sight of the window, and concluded that they must perish in the flames, and laid herself down upon the floor to perish also, when she felt a draft of air from the window, and making towards it, escaped. She then made an inquiry for her children, and not finding them search was made in the building, and the lifeless bodies of two of her children were discovered. She was still in great suspense as to the fate of her eldest boy, who was nowhere to be found.

After the fire was extinguished search was made and his lifeless body was brought to her, increasing if possible her anguish.

Mrs. R. lost her husband about a year and a half since, he having fallen dead in the street.

From the Cherokee Nation.

The New Orleans Picayune, of the 11th inst., says: "We have intelligence a little later from the Cherokee Nation. Col. McKissick, the Agent, was exerting himself to put down the outbreak, but without great success. A company of dragoons was encamped close to the line, but the Indians appeared infuriated with each other, and bent on slaughter. Without giving the rumors in circulation at Van Buren, we await further facts.

☞ A "woman's bill" has passed the Senate of Georgia, securing to married women all the property, personal or real, which they may be in possession of at the time of marriage, or which may become theirs as legatees after marriage.

Our Book Table.

ELLINOR WYLLIS, OR THE YOUNG FOLK OF LONGBRIDGE.—A Tale by Anabel Penfeather. Edited by J. F. Cooper. Cook, No. 85, Fourth street.

Our first impression was, when we picked up the two volumes with the above title page, that the book was not what it purported to be, but the bona fide work of the "author of the Spy." We were not so much undeceived by the style or the manner in which the story is told, as by the introductory remarks by Mr. Cooper, himself, in which he speaks much more favorably of the book, than good taste would permit him to do, were it his own. The New York papers state that the book is from the pen of a daughter of the great novelist.

Witty and humorous, of course. The "cuts" are excrutiating.

All the books of Dumas possess the same general characteristics, of vivid and strongly marked delineation of character, true French vivacity of dialogue, and rapid succession of incidents.

Matters Personal.

We have already devoted some space in reply to the Gazette's article, of Wednesday the 24th, but it has other points which we must notice. After having labored almost weekly for many months, by a regular system of bragging, to cram its readers with some idea of its growing prosperity, we no sooner expose its game than that paper attempts dignity, and says, "We never endeavored to brag ourselves into notice." This was amusing enough, but to make the acting of modesty more absurd the Gazette winds up with the following alleged mercantile correspondence:

"After the above was written we received the following communication, with the quotation from the Journal article attached. Our respected correspondent need be under no apprehension. We have seen quite enough of such bravado in our day to give it its proper estimate. We are very willing to set the opinions of the shrewd merchants of this city against those of the pugnacious editor of the Journal:

"From the Commercial Journal.

" 'We shall hereafter take every occasion to make known it's (the Gazette's) inferiority to us in all the requisites of an advertising medium, and a commercial newspaper.' "

"For the Gazette.

"I find, Messrs. Editors, the above paragraph in the whilom 'Age' of this morning. Somewhat fearful that it may lead you into a controversy which would be neither pleasant nor profitable to your readers, I have thought proper to call to your recollection the proverb that 'good wine needs no bush.' MERCHANT."

This set us to thinking whether it was possible the editor could be so egregiously quizzed without suspecting that he was a butt. Every reader of his paper must remember, that since we took charge of the Journal, the Gazette has been trumpeting and "bragging itself into notice" about every week. From a very incomplete file of the Gazette in our possession, we glean the following proof that the editor of the Gazette does not put faith in the maxim, that "good wine needs no bush." Why, he has surrounded himself with a perfect forest of "bushes." Let us try this modest gentleman, by his own columns. Here are "bushes" No's. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, that we can see.

Through all this, we are happy to assure our friends and advertisers, our circulation Daily, Tri-weekly and Weekly, is increasing more rapidly than at any period since the establishment of the paper. The Gazette is now in its sixtieth year, the oldest paper west of the mountains, and universally known. The circulation of the three papers is much larger than at any former period.—Gazette and Advertiser, July 13.

Our subscription list, both to as its character and extent satisfies us. It is much more than double what it was when we took hold of the paper,, and it is one third larger than it was after we had just added the Daily Advocate list, and is is steadily increasing.—This satisfies us and our advertisers. Our circulation is regular and permanent, and hundreds, knowing where our paper is to be found, make it a daily business to borrow or use their neighbor's paper.—This is just as advantageous to our advertisers, as if we sold papers and the borrowers in question bought one, and more easy to us. If we choose to give papers to the boys to sell, we could dispose of many hundreds daily but we care not to enter into that business.

We beg pardon of our subscribers for troubling them this much, on a "small matter," even in self defence. If they will forgive us this time, we will not offend again.—Gazette, July, 29.

We are happy to inform our subscribers, that—though we have passed through a stormy four years rather more so we think than falls to the lot of most editors—the Gazette was never, during its sixty years existence, in a more healthy and prosperous condition. Our Daily subscription list is nearly, and including the Tri-Weekly is altogether, treble what it was when we took the editorial charge, and is steadily increasing. The Weekly list has not increased in so great a proportion. Our advertising patronage speaks for itself. Its rapid increase has been evident to all.

But the increase of our circulation is not the only source of satisfaction. Its character has full as much value in our eyes. No paper in the country has a more respectable class of of subscribers, for intelligence, business enterprise, morality and general worth. The character of the circulation, to an advertiser, being of more importance than mere extent.—Gazette, Aug 5.

Contentions about the extent of circulation, always in bad taste, are now becoming absolutely disgraceful to the profession, from the savage ferocity with which they are carried on, and the revelations made. * *

We hope these contentions will soon be ended, for the credit of the profession. They must be disgusting to every sensible man. As far as advertising is concerned, they are also wrong in principle. The character of a circulation, as a general rule, is of much more importance to an advertiser than its extent.—Gazette, Aug. 8.

Our weekly paper, for this week, commences its sixtieth volume—and we are happy to say with fairer prospects for long life than at any period of its existence. Never was its prosperity greater, or its prospects more encouraging. We contemplate about the first of January next to make it one third larger than at present. Our paper will then be as large and contain as much matter as any weekly paper in the country, with probably one or two exceptions.—Gazette, Sept. 25.

Speaking of Gazette presses, it may not be inappropriate in this connection to inform our readers that we have now building for us in New York, a Napier, or Cylinder Power Press, of the latest and most approved construction, with all the modern improvements. It is being manufactured by Mr. A. B. TAYLOR, whose advertisement will be found in another column. We shall run it by steam. This printing machine, when in operation, including steam engine, will cost us upwards of $2000 00. What a contrast does this present to the little, wooden, ill-constructed press brought to this city sixty years ago by Mr. SCULL, on which two men, with great labor, could print 200 small sheets, on one side, in an hour, whereas our new Power press with only the light labor of one man or boy, we expect to throw off 1500 impressions of a mammoth sheet per hour.—Gazette, Oct. 1.

TO ADVERTISERS.—We are at present greatly pressed for room, and must ask our numerous yearly advertisers to confine their notices strictly in the space contracted for. On the first of January we shall enlarge to the mammoth size, when we can allow more latitude. We were wholly unable to day to get up all the advertisements sent in, but will try to make arrangements to accommodate all hereafter. We are unfeignedly grateful for the extensive patronage bestowed upon us, and intend to spare no exertions to merit its continuance and increase.—Gazette, Nov. 6.

Of course, it is not to be expected that the venerable Gazette, now Sixty years of age, and the oldest daily in this section of country, (since the Daily Advocate and Advertiser was united with it,) should not share in the general impetus given to the Newspaper business of this city. Most of our readers are aware that we contemplated enlarging it. In fact we have been so cramped for Room, our Readers and Advertisers particularly, have reason to know by experience that we have none to spare. A grumbling—which we confess there was a good reason for—was kept up because advertisements were run out much too soon for their wishes.

Our circulation has also increased so much that it is with the greatest difficulty we have been able to get our editions worked off on the ordinary presses, and from the manner in which it is now increasing, bids fair to outrun this mode of working altogether. No alternative was left but a recourse to the modern improvements in Printing; and accordingly we ordered and have received a new and splendid Patent Steam Power Press, from New York.—Gaz., Dec. 22.

We have never endeavored to brag ourselves into notice, and the success of those who have made a business of it does not at all tempt us to change our course, were we otherwise so disposed.—Gazette, Dec. 24.

It is not only the oldest Weekly west of the mountains, but also the oldest Daily in this part of the country—as such it is almost universally known and enjoys a circulation, which for character is not exceeded by any paper in the country. In all the period of sixty years during which it has been published, it never was so prosperous and on so firm a basis as at present.—Dec. 24.

All these self-glorifications, are from an editor who, when detected and exposed, in a selfish and unmanly system of undermining, sneaks off to declare he never brags himself into notice! We would like to know what bragging is, if these are specimens of any thing else. Six times in five months, be it observed, he proclaims the Gazette to be "sixty years old," and once, beside, in a prospectus, which he publishes abroad, and not at home. The only wonder is, that in so very many years, it should not have attained to adult stature. Why the Journal, in one fifteenth part the time, is twice as big, and quite as respectable in every inch. Lorenzo Dow spoke of a jack knife, which had had many new blades and several new handles, and was still the same jack knife. This is the way with the Gazette. It has had many new heads and many new tails, and is still accounted the same Gazette. The changes have left it little merit, but the name, and that is worth nothing in bad hands.

The Washington Union of yesterday says—

We are requested to state that the interest on the United States stock, due and payable on the 1st of Januaey next, will be paid at the following depositories of the government, viz; Merchants' Bank, Boston; Bank of America, New York; Philadelphia Bank, Philadelphia; Chesapeak Bank, Baltimore; Corcoran & Riggs, Washington.

The Editor of the Gazette.

When we complained of the Gazette, the other day, we were chiefly moved to it by the private misrepresentations of those connected with that paper. They were of a character calculated to injure us seriously, because not made in a tangible shape, in which we could give them the proper contradiction. In Saturday's paper, however, the Editor has taken courage to give his utterance in print. We copy the following of that date:

"If our neighbor, who seems so anxious (doubtless with the most disinterested motive,) to pry into and expose our private affairs, can prove that there is any thing of value about his establishment which, in the eye of the law is his, there are not a few who will be very glad to hear it."

Here we have something we can make a mark on. First. The insinuation, (for he asserts nothing about it,) that we are not the responsible and actual proprietor of this establishment, subject, of course, to payment of original purchase money, just as the Gazette is, is a wilful wanton falsehood.

Second. We charge, that the Editor of the Gazette has uttered a wilful and wanton falsehood in asserting that there are "many who will be very glad to hear," that we have tangible property in this establishment. We tell him he lied wilfully, for no man in Pittsburgh can be shown, who desires to find property of ours to reach by legal process.

We shall hold him to be a convicted liar, until he send such a man to us, and prove that such intimations were made to him, by some creditor of ours.

The Case of Arthur Morrell.

This gentleman, says the N. Y. Herald, accompanied by a friend, and at the instance and solicitation of His Honor, the Mayor, presented himself at the Mayor's Chambers on the 23d inst. In his statement, he says, that from the time he left the saloon of the Chatham theatre, on Thanksgiving night, he has no recollection whatever, does not know where he went, how long he was absent from home, or how, or in what way he was restored to his family. His mind is entirely confused and uncertain upon this subject, nor does he seem to indulge the least hope of ever being prepared to clear up this somewhat clouded and surprising mystery. His friend states that they separated upon the corner of Chatham and Pearl streets, immediately after leaving the Chatham theatre, when Mr. Morrell proffered him the use of his umbrella, which he declined taking; that they were both sober, in their usual state of mind, and under no degree o real or fictitious excitement. We are happy to state that Mr. Morrell has completely recovered from his late indisposition, and has resumed his ordinary business pursuits. We confess that the developments of the 23d are anything but satisfactory to our feelings, and that we are in no way prepared to acknowledge this whole matter as other than a most singular and unfathomable mystery. The uniformly correct habits of this gentleman, and his respectability of character, command our full reliance in his statement; yet we are entirely at a loss to account for this strange departure from his usual social obligations, or the means employed to seduce him from his family, and the restraints subsequently imposed upon his liberty.—The whole affair, therefore, remains deeply veiled in one inconceivable doubt, unredeemed by the wisest speculation, or any disclosed facts connected with this mystery.

From India.

The Governor General of India has recently issued a proclamation, declaring that Christian converts are entitled to the same protection and privileges with all others. Heretofore, when a convert renounced caste, he lost his title to property, and was subject to many other disabilities. He has also abolished the Meria sacrifice, which included the offering up of little children to the god of the fruits of the earth. He has caused a public acknowledgment by the government of its Christian character, it having hitherto professed to stand neutral. He has abolished all governmental connection with idolatry, and done much to improve the morals of the soldiers, and officers,—opposing drunkenness, gaming, &c. The Bishop of Madras has given orders to dismiss all the officers in the Vopery Mission who would not renounce caste. Rev. Mr. Winslow writes from Madras, that the subject of caste is exciting very great attention now in India, the Missionaries of all denominations, having decidedly set their faces against it.

Texas, Oregon and Cuba.

Our readers, says the U. S. Gazette, will be astonished to find that the Hon. Mr. Levy has followed up the Texas annexation, that work having been consummated, with the offer of a resolution to commence the work of annexing Cuba. It does not appear that the Island is to be physically connected, unless a bridge should be constructed, but probably only to have a political union with the United States. The movement sounds bold, but it is certainly not more astonishing than many others which have been reconciled to the judgment of a majority of the people; and we do not know that European Powers could say much against the step. India, China and Algiera, seem to supply precedents.

Nearly a Mystery.

A lad aged 14, named Norris Chandler, disappeared from his parent's residence at Shutesbury, Mass., in 1844, under circumstances which induced the supposition that he had gone to sea. Lately, however, a mesmerized woman has asserted that he was murdered, and his bones might be found in a certain spot—where search was made, not without effect. Much excitement exists in the neighborhood. A liberal reward is offered for any information concerning him.

Cowhiding a Child.

John Bayer, says the New Orleans Delta, was tried in the Criminal Court, for having severely whipped a little white boy, named James Porter, with a cowhide, "because he was plying and making a noise before his door." The Jury instantly found him guilty.

Railroad to the Mississippi.

The Chicago (Ill) Daily Journal of the 4th, contains the proceedings of a numerous meeting of the citizens of Winnebago county at Rockford, where the importance of immediate action on the project of the "Mississippi and Michigan Railroad," was resolved upon, and active measures taken to secure a Railroad from Galena to Chicago. A convention from the counties interested in that project was recommended to assemble at Rockford on the third day of January next, "for the purpose of taking measures for constructing said road at the earliest possible period."

Ways of the West.

At Little Fort, there not being storage room sufficient to accomodate the large amount of produce coming forward at that thriving point, we learn, the Court House being full, that a commencement has been made to fill the Churches with wheat.

Mr. Clay.

The Lexington Observer, of Dec 20, says: "Mr. Clay left Ashland, on Wednesday morning last, for New Orleans, on private and professional business. He expects to be gone several months, and may probably visit Cuba during the winter."

Rumored Compromise of the Oregon Question.

We cut the following from the N. Y. Morning News. It may go for what it is worth, and what that may be, every one will judge for himself.

"A report was in general circulation yesterday afternoon that a letter had been received in the city from a member of the Cabinet at Washington, by the afternoon's mail, to the effect that a settlement of the Oregon boundary question had been concluded in London between the British Government and Mr. McLane on the basis of the 49th degree—the proposition having come from the former. We have not seen the letter in question, but have reason to regard the truth of this report as in the highest degree probable. We know the British Government is anxious for the speedy and amicable settlement of the question. We know, too, that it was at a recent day ready to offer the 49th degree, before allowing matters to go to extremities. Nothing can be more likely than that out of this anxiety on their part, coupled with the fact of our Government having recently offered to accept the line of 49, has grown a definite treaty between Lord Aberdeen and Mr. McLane.

UNFORTUNATE OCCURRENCE.—Last Friday night about seven o'clock, the dwelling house of Mr. William Mangrum, in this county, took fire, and was soon consumed, burning up two of his little sons, one about four and the other about six years old, together with all his household furniture.

A Priest Frozen to Death.

The Eastern papers have accounts of more deaths by the intensity of the weather in the earlier part of this month. Among others, we observe that of the Rev. Charles E. Correspondence of the New York Herald.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21, 1845.

The Annexation of Mexico—A Graphic Description of Coming Events.

Briefly, in a letter per mail of this afternoon, we advised you of the arrival of a messenger from Vera Cruz, with despatches from Mr. Slidell, special Minister at Mexico. One point we, perhaps, forgot to mention—that Gen. Paredes, originally commissioned and despatched at the head of the army destined for the invasion of Texas, had wheeled about, and at the head of his 6,000 ragamuffins, declared war against the supreme government of Herrera. Any man of the commonest perception, can see at once where these endless dissensions of that miserable burlesque of a republic, "La Republica Mexicana," are to stop. They will stop with the annexation of Mexico to the United States—silver mines, gold mines, cathedrals, sugar and coffee plantations, corn-fields, orange gardens, castles, palaces, vineyards, plains, vallies, rivers and mountains, lakes, bays, harbors, salt-ponds, volcanoes, palm-trees, Indians, mestizoes, Spaniards, quarteroons, darkies, banditti, priests, monks and friars, aristocrats, gentlemen, lazzaroni, and all. That's where it will stop. It won't stop anywhere else. It's bound to come. All h— (beg pardon,) all "human natur" can't stop the rapidly approaching grand climacteric of the annexation of Mexico—a country abundantly competent to the sustentation of one hundred and fifty millions of people. Great God! what a consummation to think of—to try for—to realize! And we shall realize it. A compromise upon the 49th parallel for Oregon will give us Mexico, with the shedding of nothing but ink upon a tanned sheep-skin. Only to think of it! A country—a government—stretching its sublime pinions from the St. Lawrence to the straits of Panama—from the frozen regions to the torrid zone—from the roar of the Atlantic, in midnight darkness, to the illimitable expanse of the Pacific, heaving and glittering in the glories of the setting sun! Gods and goddesses of High Olympus, what a destiny is ours! Only think of it! The representatives of fifty States congregated in the national capitol—and all the varieties of beauty upon the face of the earth assembled in the Federal city during the winter's season.

Where is the human intellect—where is that sanguine devotee of republican liberty, however high his aspirations for his country—however expansive his presentiments of its ultimate standing that he can reach, in the utmost tension of his imagination, the boundaries of the glory, the power, the grandeur, the sublimity, the unparalleled maximum of renown to which this North American Union has commenced her onward march? He can't begin to do it. All that we can do is to "look out when the bell rings," and move onward with the locomotive of the age. Steam! why, sir, it is infused into the very spirit of the times. It is the realization of more than a poets dream—this onward progress of the model Republic. There are men living, sir, and mark the prediction in the Herald—there are men living, who will breakfast in Washington and sup in the national palace of Mexico. The President after a light supper of corn bread, a smoked herring, and green tea, with a clear conscience and a lively faith in continued peace, is doubtless dreaming at this very moment of supping in the halls of the Montezumas.

We deduce these foregone conclusions from what we hear from Mexico of the protracted misery of that miserable people, from continued and never-ending intestine broils, taxations, conscriptions, and grinding impositions of all sorts—from their desire for peace, and a safe and steady government.

The work of annexation is just beginning. We cannot stop short of the neck of Darien. We must go on. We cannot resist the momentum by which we are propelled. It will have to be done. It's bound to be done. Fifty States represented in this capitol! Only think of that. Why, sir, the present dimensions of our national flag will be covered all over with stars, and we shall have to enlarge it to make room for the stripes. Great and apotheosesied Dinan! what is the world coming to! Hurrah for Polk—hurrah for Oregon and Texas—hurrah for California—and three times three for Mexico and the New Jerusalem! We are enveloped in a blaze of glory. Already do we anticipate the stupendously magnificent consummation before us. Come on! come on! ye down-trodden and oppressed of Ireland, of Britain, and of Europe—come on. We shall have room for you! The mantle of our government will cover you all. To every honest heart, panting for liberty and a fair field, we say, in behalf of our country, the fruit of imported seeds, come on! Elbow-room, ye tatterdemalions of Mexico! we are coming to take care of you. Ere ten years shall have elapsed, the North American eagle will scream in his triumphant flight, when the first rays of the morning shall illuminate the snowy pinnacle of the majestic Orizimbo! That's all.

Respectfully, THE DOCTOR.

From the New York Tribune.

The "Young Democracy" of our city held a General Meeting at Tammany Hall on Friday evening and denounced the present Tariff as "odious and oppressive," resolved that they "repudiate the whole doctrine of Protection" (which doctrine the Tammany Democracy in 1819 pronounced not only Democratic but of vital importance to the National independence and prosperity); declared our claim to all Oregon up to 54° 40' "unquestionable," approved the resolutions of Gen. Cass or Gas, and pledged to the support of War measures "the united American People, without distinction of party." (Quite this is going beyond your letter.) They farther declare themselves in favor of various projects of State Constitutional Reform, and among them that of depriving citizens of African descent of any right of suffrage whatever! We treat our readers to the logic by which the "Progressive Democracy" force the conclusion that a part of the citizens born and bred on our soil ought to be deprived of any voice whatever in directing the Government which taxes, constrains and hangs them. Here it is:

'Resolved, That the distinction established in the present Constitution between People of Color, allowing such of them as have property to vote, and excluding others, is an anti-republican distinction, as the possession of property is not the test of intelligence or of worth; and that as we are therefore driven to the alternative of excluding all or allowing all these people to vote—we are most decidedly of the opinion that all should be excluded. We cannot regard them as belonging to the race to which the government of this country is committed; that there is a natural antipathy between the races, founded on strong natural and physical differences, forbidding social or political amalgamation, that the attempt to unite the races, by constitutional or legal provisions has signally failed in this State already—that a constitutional provision, not in accordance with public sentiment in this respect, would again fail in elevating the colored race to a practical participation in the government of this State, and that it is most unwise to adopt any constitutional provision which will not in fact be sustained by public sentiment, or to attempt to make such sentiment conform to a constitutional provision."

We defy the most tender-hearted skinner of eels to surpass the delicacy of this operation. It is very naughty, say the youngsters, to let Black men vote when they have property and exclude them in other cases; wherefore, we insist on their proscription altogether! Why so? Are they not intelligent, peaceable, well-behaved citizens? "Oh, we have nothing to say on these points; but there is a natural antipathy between the races." Well, sirs: that, if true, is as a good reason why White men should not vote as Blacks. Nay, more: As it is not the Blacks who feel this antipathy but the Whites, it is a better reason for excluding the Whites than the Blacks. If one race hates and despises the other, it is very clear that the haters ought not to possess unchecked power over the hated. And are not you, Messrs. Dorr Democrats, who were just now contending for the absolute right of all men to vote, regardless or in defiance of written forms of Government, pretty fellows to urge that some men ought not to vote because others hate them?

Mr. John W. Forney whom the News commends as "Deputy Surveyor of the Port of Philadelphia") was here to make a speech at this ferociously Anti-Tariff meeting, having, as a Polk Editor in 1844, assured the Pennsylvanians that Polk was a good Protectionist. He told the Democracy among other things, that

"The President had been charged vilely, impudently charged with desiring to surrender the rights of the American People to a foreign power."

Now if the President has been 'charged' with any such treason, it must be by his supporters.—The Whigs, universally, approve his offer to divide Oregon with Great Britain, on the parallel of 49° North. They consider this offer right and just.—But those Loco-Focos who pretend to consider our right to 'the whole of Oregon,' up to 54° 40' 'clear and unquestionable' do virtually accuse Mr. Polk of 'desiring to surrender the rights of the American People to a Foreign Power.' They lie in this, as usual, and we are glad to see them so pungently rebuked by Mr. Forney.

Destruction of Borneo Pirates.

The British squadron in the East, under the command of Sir Thos. Cochrane has made a successful attack upon pirates at Borneo. The scene of the exploit was Meluda, a town to the northward of Borneo, where the pirates had entrenched themselves. Twenty four boats, nine of them being gun boats, were detailed for the attack, under the command of Captain Talbot. Some of the British were killed in the attack, and fifteen were wounded. They burnt the pirates' forts and town, and an immense quantity of property.

LOCAL NEWS.

FIRE.—About 3 o'clock last evening, flames were discovered issuing from the third story of a new brick house on Third street. A considerable time elapsed before the engines reached the ground, but when they did, they were worked with great effect. At one time there was great danger of the flames spreading to Mr. Wallace's new Coffee House, adjoining, but they were got under, at last, by the exertions of the firemen.

The house is owned by the heirs of Mrs. Morrison; and is very much injured.

The house was fully insured in the Delaware Mutual Insurance Company. It was occupied by Mr. Noble, Upholsterer.

THE FAKIR OF AVA.—The Cincinnatians appear much excited about the Fakir. Some of them conclude that he is leagued with the devil: "It may be so," says the Atlas, "but we do not undertake to decide. It is possible he is the identical old rascal himself, who, as Coleridge, says,

"From his brimstone bed, at the break of day,' has just stepped out
"To visit his little snug farm, the earth,
And see how his stock gets on."

OYSTERS.—A good oyster is a good thing, at any time—morning, noon or night: in fact it never comes amiss. These sage reflections occurred to us the other night, while we were rioting over a delicious load at Beale's. By the way, the proprietor, (and who does not know him!) possesses precisely the knack of doing things nicely. He does indeed, and the oysters he keeps, are of the richest and best.

THE POLICE CASE.—We understand that the motion for a new trial of the Allegheny Police Officers, will be argued on Wednesday next, should the health of Mr. Hampton permit his attendance in Court.

ARRIVED.—Mr. Foster and his lady, (late Miss Abbey Kelly,) arrived in our city on Saturday. They will speak to-morrow night, we understand, at the Temperance Hall, Smithfield street.

SMALL POX.—We stated some days since that this disease had made its appearance in Washington, Pa. The Reporter of that place flatly contradicted the statement and required us to make a retraction. The Examiner, of the same place, however, gives the names of two persons who have been attacked, one of whom is since dead, in contradiction of the Reporter's declaration.

ACCIDENT.—A boy by the name of Bostwick, had his arm literally torn off on Wednesday last, by the machinery in Freeman, Knapp & Totten's iron works. Dr's. Hazelet and Bruce, amputated the stump.—We learn that the little fellow is doing well.

THE COURTS were in session on Saturday, for the purpose of hearing arguments.

Bar Meeting.

At a meeting of the members of the Pittsburgh Bar, held in the District Court Room, on Saturday the 27th instant, on motion of Andrew Burke, Esq., the Hon. Judge GRIER was called to the chair, and S. W. Black and W. O'H. Robinson, Esqrs., were appointed Secretaries.

Mr. Burke then announced to the meeting the death of ABNER L. PENTLAND, Esq., a member of that Bar, which melancholy event had taken place only that morning; and stated that they were then assembled for the purpose of paying the fitting and customary tribute of respect to the memory of their deceased brother. He concluded by moving the appointment, by the Chair, of a committee of three, to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting.

The Chair appointed the following committee, viz: Messrs. Burke, Craft, and T. Hamilton; who, after retiring for a few minutes, reported the following resolutions, which were adopted by the meeting:

Resolved, That we have received with feelings of deep sorrow and regret, the intelligence of the death of ABNER L. PENTLAND, Esq.

Resolved, That by this melancholy dispensation of Providence, the Bar has lost, in the flower of his youth, a member, whose fine talents, polished education, and professional attainments, were well calculated to secure for their possessor honorable distinction and ample wealth; and whose courteous demeanor, kindness of heart, and sprightly wit, greatly endeared him to his many friends and acquaintances.

Resolved, That we condole with the afflicted family of the deceased, on the great loss they have sustained; and tender them this assurance of our heartfelt sympathy.

Resolved, That as a mark of respect for the memory of the deceased, we will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days; and attend his funeral in a body, from his late residence to his grave.

Resolved, That the Secretaries of this meeting be requested to communicate its proceedings to the family of the deceased.

On motion of Mr. McCandless, the proceedings of the meeting were ordered to be published.

On motion of Mr. Craft, the meeting adjourned.

River Matters.

The Cincinnati Gazette of the 28th says ice is still running here in large quantities, and the river continues to fall, though not fast. If rumor and reportare to be received, there are gorges both above and below Cincinnati. We are without arrivals from upper ports for several days, and for lower only one boat has left within the same time. The Hibernia started for Louisville yesterday, notwithstanding a report from a good source that the river was closed at the mouth of the Great Miami. Nothing having been heard from her since, we are of cource ignorant as to whether she butted her way through, got shut in among the drifts, or took to a harbor for safety.

At eight o'clock this evening the weather is quite moderate—the sky overcast, and there is every appearance of rain.

It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, that the steamer Laura will run as a regular Packet between this City and Beaver.

The Louisville Journal of the 23rd says the river is full of floating ice and navigation still suspended. The weather yesterday was very mild, and if it continues the river will soon open and navigation be resumed.

The St. Louis Republican, of Friday, says all hope of the breaking up of the ice across the river is now abandoned, and the crossing of the river with teams may be resumed to day with safety.

The Wheeling Times of the 27th says the river navigation is open below. The Harlem arrived from Cincinnati on Thursday evening, and the De-Kalb and Revenue Cutter left last night.

For New Orleans direct, the first rise of water. The new and splended steamer Wisconsin Capt., R. J. Grace, will leave for the above and all intermediate ports, on the opening of navigation, for freight or passage apply on board or to D-Holmes Marke street

THE WEATHER—We have had to Tuesday last, twenty-eight successive days, which as an average of cold have had no parallel for the past in the Miami Valley. The thermometer has ranged during three of those mornings, from two to six degrees below Zero, and the average of cold during the whole period, must have been twelve to fifteen degrees below the freezing point. I place this on record for future comparisons.—Cist's Cincinnati Advertiser.

FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE.—This is to certify that my youngest boy, aged about two years, was taken sick last summer with the summer complaint. He was attended by a physician all summer, and received little or no relief. About the middle of November, I gave him some of Fahnestock's Vermifuge, which brought away one hundred and thirty large worms, and gave him immediate relief; he has been perfectly well ever since.

The Grand Purgative.

Headache,	Giddiness,	Rheumatism,	Piles,
Dyspepsia,	Scurvy,	Small Pox,	Jaundice,
Pains in the Back;	Inward weakness,	Palpitation of the Heart,	Rising in the Throat,
Dropsy,	Asthma,	Fevers of all kinds,	Female complaints,
Measles,	Salt Rheum,	Cholera Morbus,	Coughs,
Quinsy,	Whooping Cough,	Erysipelas,	Consumption
Fits,		Gout,	Deafness,

Experience has proved that nearly every disease to which the human frame is subject originates from impurities of the Blood or Derangements of the Digestive Organs; and to secure Health we must remove those obstructions or restore blood to its natural state This important fact has long been familiar to the world; but our natural aversion to medicine in any shape has hitherto determined us, in many cases, to prefer the disease to its cure. Now, however, the objection is effectually removed by CLICKENER'S PURGATIVE PILLS, which being completely enveloped with a coating of pure white sugar (as distinct from the internal ingredients as a nut shell from the kernel) have no taste of medicine, but are as easily swallowed as bits of candy. Moreover they neither nauseate or gripe in the slightest degree. This is occasioned by the fact that they are compounded on scientific principles and based on an intimate acquaintance with the origin of disease and the actual structure of the human system, which enables them to operate equally on all the diseased parts of the system. Thus, for example, if the Liver be affected one ingredient will operate on that particular organ, and by cleansing it of that excess of bile it is constantly discharging into the stomach, restore it to its natural state. Another will operate on the blood, and remove those impurities which have already entered into its circulation: while a third will effectually expel from the system whatever impurities may have been discharged into the stomach through the instrumentality of the other ingredients. Hence, they strike at the root of Disease, remove all impure humors (the principal cause of disease) from the body, open the pores externally and internally, promote the insensible perspiration, separate all foreign and obnoxious particles from the Chyle, ensure a free and healthy action to the heart, lungs and liver, and thereby restore health, even when every other means have failed.

The entire truth of the above can be ascertained by the trial of a single box; and their virtues are so positive and certain in restoring health that the proprietor binds himself to return the money paid for them in all cases where they do not give universal satisfaction.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER BOX.

Pittsburgh Depot is at WM. JACKSON'S Boot and Shoe Warehouse, corner of Liberty and Wood streets.

☞ Beware of an imitation article called Improved Sugar-Coated Pills, purporting to be patented, as both the pills and pretended patent are forgeries, got up by a miserable quack in New York, who, for the last four or five years has made his living by counterfeiting popular medicines.

☞ Remember Dr. C. V. Clickener is the original inventor of Sugar Coated Pills, and that nothing of the sort was ever heard of until he introduced them in June, 1843 as will be seen by the following

PREMIUM.

This diploma was awarded by the American Institute at the Annual Fair, held in the city of New York, October 1843, C. V. CLICKENER, for the invention of Sugar Coated Pills.

JAMES TALLMADGE. President.
GORDON J. LEEDS, Rec. Sec'y.

To avoid impositions, purchasers must always ask for "Clickener's Sugar Coated Vegetable Pills," and take no others, or they will be made the victims of a fraud.

Autumn's Warning.

I have come, I have come, to lay bare the green trees
And to sweep through the fields with my turbulent breeze;
I have come to strip hedges while rushing along,
And to fill the lane deep with the Autumn leaves' song.
I have come with my mist and my cold falling dew;
To tell you that winter will soon be in view.
I have come to give warning that all ought to wear
The new style of GUMS that excludes the damp air.

I mention these articles because I know well,
That none in the city their beauty excel;
I'll venture to say that in all the trade round,
South Boston rubbers there's none can be found.
These Gums, you will find, are sure to resist
The cold blowing breeze and the chill Autumn mist.

My breeze may blow and my vapors may fall,
But the mineralized Gum is sure to stand all.
You'll never have cause to regret what you've done,
In purchasing shoes made of Mineralized Gum.
Then take my advice, and wear the Gum shoes;
And remember, it is the first Autumn news.

FROM FIFTY TO ONE HUNDRED LOTS IN ALLEGHENY CITY, FOR SALE.—The undersigned offers for sale, on accomodating terms, from fifty to one hundred lots in Allegheny city, the titles to which are indisputable. These lots are twenty four feet in front, running back from eighty to one hundred and forty feet, except the corner lots, which vary from one hundred to upwards of two hundred feet front. They are pleasantly situated in the First Ward, on the bank of the Ohio river, comprising the only portion of Allegheny City suitable for a good Steamboat, or Ferry landing, and are well calculated for residence, extensive Manufacturing establishments, or other purposes. The Omnibus from the bridge and the Stage for Beaver pass the property, daily, the former at short intervals, and Coal can be procured from the opposite side of the Ohio, at any season of the year. Manufacturers can obtain the quantity of ground necessary, upon very reasonable terms, and will find it to possess peculiar advantages for such purposes. Mechanics, river men and others will find it an excellent location for the erection of dwellings. A plot of ground can be seen and further information obtained by calling up
